

Copenhagen welcomes

IAYMH 2022

Reimagining

IAYMH2022 Conference

SPECIAL CALL FOR SYMPOSIA

The IAYMH2022 Program Committee are pleased to announce that they will be considering submissions for symposia at the IAYMH2022 conference. We hope to trial 2 - 3 symposia in the conference program. Submissions will be assessed against the usual criteria, as well as some additional requirements listed below:

Symposia Guidelines

- There must be a common theme across all proposed presentations
- At the time of submission, all proposed presenters should be able to attend the conference in person.
- Maximum of 6 presentations, minimum of 4.
- Must have presenters currently based in least 2 geographic regions (e.g. Asia and North America).
- Must include at least 1 youth presenter (25 years or under and not an early career researcher) and 1 non-academic presenter (e.g. clinician). Submissions that include more than 1 youth and presenters from low- to middle-resource settings are strongly encouraged. Youth bursaries will be available for all youth attendees to attend and there will be discounted registration rates for attendees from low- and middle-resource settings. However, symposia organisers are recommended to ensure, as best they can, the feasibility of all presenters being able to afford to attend the conference.

Copenhagen welcomes

IAYMH 2022

Reimagining

How to submit a symposium proposal

Please email the following details in a single word document or pdf to IAYMH2022symposia@iaymh.org

- 300 words maximum describing the proposed topic of your symposium
- Titles of each presentation, proposed presenters, including location, affiliation and whether they are youth.
- 2 pages maximum total. Submissions longer than this will not be considered.

Note that you should not submit the same abstracts for consideration via the usual submission portal (although you are welcome to submit different ones). Any unsuccessful symposia applications will be able to be considered as individual applications if the authors agree.

Any questions can be emailed to IAYMH2022symposia@iaymh.org